Conference on Innovative Stormwater Management:
Implementation of EISA Requirements in the District of Columbia

March 27th, 2009-- 9:30 am - 3:00 pm
777 North Capitol Street, N.E.
Washington, D.C. 20002

District Department of the Environment is hosting a workshop to review the advantages and challenges for federal facilities of the recently enacted stormwater management provisions of the Energy Independence & Security Act (section 438, Public Law 110-140) and discuss ways to promote the new law's implementation. The focus will be on recent experience with innovative stormwater management practices, especially low impact development (LID) and how these practices can meet the new Act's stormwater control requirements. Federal agencies are encouraged to attend.
